Discover Algeciras:

A city of seafaring, modern and cosmopolitan tradition, it is the birthplace of the flamenco guitarist Paco de Lucía. Of great botanical and faunal richness is the place of the Garganta or "canuto" of the river of La Miel of the natural park of Los Alcornocales, with the waterfall of La Chorrera, mills, or remains of road that were used as shortcuts to cross the mountain range since the Middle Ages.

A large part of the tourist attractions of Algeciras are its beaches, among which the Rinconcillo stands out, located in the interior of the Bay three kilometres away. from the town centre, it extends to the mouth of the Palmones River; that of San García and Getares, four kilometres from the city in the direction of the Punta Carnero lighthouse. In fact, a visit to the Getares cove is very interesting, a valuable natural and scenic environment made up of attractive cliffs and a splendid beach, formed by the contributions of the Pícaro river and the Marchenilla and Lobo streams. The Plaza Alta and the food market are the social center of the city. The Plaza Alta is home to important monuments such as the parish church of Nuestra Señora de la Palma and the small chapel of Nuestra Señora de Europa.

The climate in Algeciras is warm and temperate. The average annual temperature is 17.3 °C and the average rainfall is 434 mm.

The northern hemisphere is home to Algeciras. Summer starts at the end of June and ends in September. The summer months are: June, July, August, September. The best dates to visit are June, July, August, September.
